Conveying Systems

Raque conveyor systems are custom designed to fit a wide range of packaging applications. The conveyor's drive system is designed to facilitate the integration of many automated work stations. Many options such as in-line belt washing, various infeed/discharge transfers, and specialized turns ensure each system is built to meet your most stringent requirements.

Sanitary Construction

For over 25 years, Raque Food Systems has served the frozen and ready-meal industries with high quality, extremely reliable machinery. Built of durable food-grade material, Raque machines are truly designed to stand the test of time.

Product and Container Transfers

Raque manufactures a wide range of product/container transfers. From simple bottom belt transfers to the more complex overhead transfer, Raque can accommodate almost any conveying need. Limited space? Ask one of our sales staff about combining a machine discharge with a transfer or even a converger.
